

HOT DAY SAIL FOR CHILDREN.

John D. Chimmings Gives An Excursion Through St. John's Guild.

New York, July 23.—The floating hospital, Helen C. Julliard, gathered 1002 mothers and children at three West Side landings and took them for a sail on the bay. The trip was the gift of John D. Chimmings, who a year ago celebrated his birthday by donating a trip to St. John's Guild, and followed this same plan this year, though his birthday was two months ago.

The number of applicants for admission to the floating hospital continues the largest for several seasons; 6,232 mothers and children were carried last week. The guild renews its appeal to the generous people of the city to provide funds for these life-giving trips.

Habeas Corpus Frees Him.

Brooklyn, July 23.—Charles Rehl, who has been serving time in the Kings county penitentiary for grand larceny for having, it is alleged, obtained $25 from Charles Mortensen on a promise of obtaining a position in the United States mail service, was freed on a writ of habeas corpus granted by Supreme Court Justice Sewell. Rehl claimed that he was illegally held, and that the charges were wholly insufficient to convict in that they did not state the offense upon which he could be convicted.

Had No License.

Brooklyn, July 23.—Albert Kedish and Leon Wahnson, of Freeport, were before United States Commissioner Benedict today on a charge of peddling cigars without a license. Kedish admitted the charge but said that he did not know that it was necessary to obtain a license to do so. He gave bail in the sum of $250 for his appearance for examination at the October term of court. Wahnson was released, there being no evidence on which he could be held.

Makes Trouble For Himself.

Brooklyn, July 23.—A strike among the tailors employed in the factory of the Boston Tailor Trimming Company resulted this morning in the arrest of one of the strikers and warrants are out for two others. The men went out last Tuesday but some of the strikers went back yesterday. Those who remained out gathered about the factory last night and attacked the workers as they came from the building. One of the men then got out warrants for the arrest of the three of the leaders. One of these was arrested this morning and held in $200 bail for examination in the Manhattan avenue police court.

Picked Up at Sea.

Boston, July 23.—Two fishermen of the schooner Catherine and Ellen, who were lost during a heavy fog in South Channel, Saturday, were brought into T. Wharf this morning on the schooner Mary Sylva. They are Dagnan Fitzgerald and Nicholas Sheedy. They said they were picked up a few hours after they were lost and suffered no hardships.

Launch Rams Log Boom.

Lexington, Ky., July 23.—The steam launch Shamrock, containing forty persons, ran into a log boom last night on the Kentucky river, near Valley View. The boat sank and the occupants were thrown into the water. Nina Carpenter, 14 years old, was drowned. Several others were injured in the ensuing struggle to reach shore.

Train Kills Bicyclist.

Brooklyn, July 23.—Morris Kearns, 41 years old, while riding a bicycle across the tracks of the Long Island railroad, early today, was struck by a train and was thrown several feet from the tracks, and on the arrival of the ambulance surgeon from a hospital was pronounced dead.

Pleads Not Guilty.

Brooklyn, July 23.—Berthe Claiche, the "White Slave" who shot and killed Emil Gendron, and who was indicted for murder by the Grand jury, appeared before Justice Foster in Manhattan today and pleaded not guilty to the indictment. A date for the trial of the girl will be set later in the month.

Falls From Widow.

Brooklyn, July 23.—In the act of throwing water from a rear window of her apartments last evening, Mrs. Christiana Reahl, 39 years old, lost her balance, falling to the yard below, sustaining a compound fracture of the nose and concussion of the brain.

Baseball Scores.

Portland, July 23.—Portland 3; Tacoma, 2.

Los Angeles, July 23.—Seattle, 3; Los Angeles, 0. Second game: Los Angeles, 2; Seattle, 1. The last game was called in the fifth inning to enable the Seattle team to catch the train.

San Francisco, July 23.—Oakland, 5; San Francisco, 3. Second game: Oakland, 0; San Francisco, 6.

REGATTA A BENEFIT

Will Bring Thousands of Eastern Visitors to Astoria.

ASTORIA NEEDS THE MONEY

Eastern People are Seeking Attractions and Will go Where They Can be Found and the Annual Regatta Will Advertise Astoria and Clatsop Co.

Upon the responses received from the merchants and others in Astoria, Monday and Tuesday, will depend whether Astoria is to have an annual regatta. There is no difficulty for anyone not desiring to contribute to find some plausible excuse, either real or imaginary, not taking into consideration the immense benefit a regatta will be to the city and county. Most of the excuses offered are futile. One does not care to contribute because the regatta last year was a failure financially, and there were a number of unpaid bills. Nearly every one to whom the bills are owing, made money out of the regatta, even losing their claims. Because one merchant fails in business is no excuse why no one else should go into business. The fishing season was a failure in 1904, but it did not deter cannerymen from continuing in the business with a possibility of recouping their losses. On the theory offered by the non-contributors, because of the failure of one season, the fishing industry should be closed down. The man who offers such flimsy excuses as these, is not worthy the patronage of the public. Local enterprises that bring thousands of people here, and distribute thousands of dollars, are worth the consideration and support of every business man in the city. We do not want to acknowledge as a people, that we are unable to solve local problems, no greater than have been solved in Astoria before and will be solved in the future. The theory that with the highest average education and with resources unparalleled, let us kill industry, demoralize commerce and herald anarchy, because conditions heretofore were disastrous. Let us reject prosperity for adversity: from one horn of the dilemma rush headlong upon the other; commit suicide as a people because we have to earn our bread by the sweat of our brows and may not lounge successfully and perpetually in luxurious idleness.

A prominent fisherman remarked yesterday, that nearly all the fishermen on the Columbia river had not drawn much money from the canneries this year, as they were saving it up to go to the Lewis and Clark fair at Portland, but if a regatta is held, nearly all of them will remain and participate. One cannery alone will pay out to its fishermen at the close of the season, $125,000. It is claimed by those in a position to know, that at least one million of dollars will be paid out to fishermen and employees at the end of the season. If the people of Astoria prefer that this money should go to Portland to secure enjoyment and purchase supplies, then they are biting their nose off to spite their face. One contingent of the business element states, that if the authorities will "open the town," they will contribute one thousand dollars to the regatta. If it is not opened they will not give a cent. If their business is dull, now, what will it be after the fishing season closes? From what source do they expect to derive a revenue to carry on their business? Not only are they antagonizing themselves, but many of their friends, who are working in their interests as well as in the interests of the community at large. But these business men are not the only line of business in the city that are antagonizing the regatta, either by refusing to contribute or giving such a small amount that the committee cannot accept it. They make the excuse, that the regatta will be of no direct benefit to them. If one million dollars is spent in Astoria, and they have not the ability or energy to secure their portion, they had better go out of business. They are simply drones in the hives of industry; barnacles on the body politic. The list of contributors will be published, so will the names of those who refused to contribute, in order that the enterprising portion of the community may know who are the mossbacks and who comprise the enterprising class. Let us know who our friends are. Let it be known who are the ones trying to retard the growth and prosperity of the city. It will be useful for future reference.

With no exhibit at the Lewis and Clark fair; with no regatta, no attractions to offer eastern visitors, where is Astoria going to get off at? Are we simply living for the present with no regard for the future? Astoria is not in a position today to allow the regatta to pass by. There is no doubt, and ought to be, sufficient enterprise in Astoria to raise $4,000 for a regatta, when heretofore nearly double that amount has been raised. The purpose of the committee is to offer such prizes to our home people that they will take an interest in the regatta and will compete for the prizes. It will bring thousands of people here and will leave thousands of dollars in the city, and Astoria is not so flush that a few dollars may be welcomed before the winter is over. You are simply loaning the committee the money. It will be repaid with compound interest and will advertise Astoria better than it has ever been before. Those are the considerations that ought to actuate the people. Selfish interests will never build up a city nor bring prosperity.

HOME FOR EAGLES.

The Grand Aerie Will Consider the Proposition at the Grand Lodge.

The Grand Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will convene at Denver next month. Joseph Griebler, of Astoria Aerie will represent the lodge and possibly one or two others may attend. One of the principle matters to come before the grand aerie will be the selection of a sight for an "Eagles' Home." An attractive place which will be a candidate for the home will be the Broadwater resort in Montana. The Broadwater property, consists of 200 acres of land to two water rights. There is a summer hotel there which has become a popular resort. The property has been offered to the Eagles for $75,000 and it now has a net income of about $10,000 a year. It is stated that the furniture and silverware in the hotel cost fully that much and it is considered a great bargain.

COLUMBIA ARRIVES

Steamer in from Bay City With Very Heavy Cargo.

THE PASSENGER LIST IS FULL

Steamer Columbia Arrives in From San Francisco With Full Passenger and Freight List. Lewis and Clark Exposition Traffic Continues Heavy.

Steamer Columbia arrived in yesterday from San Francisco with freight and passenger lists as heavy as those of the St. Paul early last week. The remarkable run of traffic continues. Thousands are taking advantage of the opportunity to come north from the Bay City by the ocean route. The trip is fast proving the most popular of any means of reaching Portland and is pronounced as most enjoyable by those who use the steamers.

The passage of the Columbia was uneventful. A large consignment of freight for this city held the steamer here for several hours and in that time the passengers saw as much of Astoria as was possible. The canneries continue as the greatest attraction, the majority of the passengers making for the nearest establishment as soon as they came ashore. Reports from Portland are to the effect that the Columbia will which he could be held.

Hungry Boy Steals.

Brooklyn, July 23.—John Smith, was in the Lee avenue court today, charged with stealing about $50 worth of lead pipe and fixtures from the vacant house at 13 Hopkins street. He was caught last night after Fred Schuman the owner of the house, had complained to the police.

A policeman who was sent to the house found that the thieves had left some of the plunder under a pile of lumber in the yard, and came to the conclusion that they would return later for it.

About midnight Policeman Peters, who was watching the house, saw a boy go to the lumber and began to carry away the lead pipe. He arrested the boy, who proved to be young Smith. When questioned in court the boy said he was hungry and stole to get food. Hearing was adjourned.

Fighting Rabbit.

Shoals, Irl., July 23.—A familiar sight in the streets here is a white rabbit and white bird dog belonging to T. V. Allbright, which are inseparable companions. Occasionally the dog wanders away from the rabbit, and the rabbit then comes into the business portion of the town in search of the dog. The rabbit is a fighter and has whipped several strange dogs that attacked it. It never runs from a dog instead it strikes its assailant so hard on the nose with its forefeet that the dog generally turns tail and flees.

Manager Powell Returns.

Manager W. R. Powell, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, returned last evening from a trip to Portland, North Head, Ilwaco, Seaview and The Breakers. He says the breakers were breaking at The Breakers.
